Blames Pyromaniacs For Starting Six Fires

Marshal Investigates Latest Attempt to Burn East Side Tenement House

Pyromaniaes have made six attempts the last month to burn the three sixtory forty-family houses at 339 to 349

East Thirty-first Street, according to Fire Marshal Brophy. Three of these fires occurred yesterday.

The marshal is investigating the latest attempts, made early yesterday, when smoke pouring from the transom of a vacant apartment drove hundreds of occupants to the street.

of a vacant apartment drove hundreds of occupants to the street.

A big wardrobe filled with east-off clothing and bits of paper was found ablaze. An hour later a burning carpet of another apartment filled the halls with smoke. This had been extinguished by tenants, when, after another hour, a pile of kindling wood was discovered burning under a stairway in the same building.

Marshal Bronby expressed a belief

Marshal Brophy expressed a belief that no attempt to intimidate or blackmail the owners is being made, but that pyromaniaes are attracted by the possibilities of a tremendous blaze.

Brazil Formally to Resume Relations With Mexico

WASHINGTON. March 22.—Brazil will formally resume diplomatic relations with Mexico next month, when Dr. Alberto de Ipanema Moreira will present his credentials as chargé d'affaires at Mexico City. Mr. Moreira, who has been counsellor of the embassy here for severval years, will be succeeded by Felix Cavalcanei, now on his way from Rio de Janeiro. Mr. Cavalcanei has been counsellor in the legation at Lisbon.

The Brazilian government has had no representative at Mexico City since the establishment of the present Mexican government.

In numerous instances brokers obtained insurance at 4 per cent premium and compelled the shipper to pay 10 per cent. War insurance rates showed even greater discrepancies—as high as 30

In a few instances brokers would write insurance for shippers at exorbitant rates, knowing that the companies would not accept the policies, or would not even attempt to place the policies, holding the premium at their own risk. If the ship were sunk they of premium collected, without paying anything for actual insurance. In other words, the market was such that brokers could obtain premium rates enabling them to gamble on the safety of the cargo insured.

The principal result of the investigation will be the pressing of legislation at Albany to put all marine insurance under the supervision of the state superintendent; to curb the practices of brokers, and perhaps to impose a tax on foreign companies corresponding to the tax laid on domestic companies or companies authorized to transact business in New York.

Until the war started nearly all marine insurance on ships and shipping has been hard to obtain, and rates have been correspondingly high. American companies, attracted by the high premiums, went into the business on a larger scale, and may brokers came into existence.

asked to contribute their discarded clothing next week to the American Red Cross.

"Clothes Collection Week," from Monday until Easter Sunday, offers excellent opportunity to render a necessary service to those who have suffered most at the hangs of German invaders.

Shoes, hats, hosiery, underwear and other clothing will be welcomed at the one hundred receiving stations, which are to be in charge of Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson. Mrs. Church Osborn, Mrs. August Belmont, Mrs. Irving T. Bush, Mrs. William Bayard Cutting, Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, Mrs. Theodore Williams, Miss A. B. Wiltse, Miss Teresa O'Donahue and others.

Practically every laundry in town is an agency for the collection. More than 3,800 laundries have made their collectors agents of the Red Cross for this work.

At a lunch yesterday at Delmonico's the Red Cross Clothing Committee of the Fifth Avenue Association pledged its coöperation in the work.

Representatives of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of shoes, hosiery, underwear, caps, hats and clothing have also pledged their aid and that of their employes. A principal receiving station has been establish a single body of nine members. This would be divided into a hearing and a regulatory division. Chairman Hill pointed out that one of the indictments of the present law was the expense. The work of the commissions being purely regulative and restrictive in character, he said, their value could not be measured easily. He called attention, however, to the fact that authorized capitalization of $1,500,000,000 had been made by the upstate commission during its ten varied and much had been "squeezed out." He added.

BETWEEN SEASONS

"Abundant-Cabbage, potatoes and onions." rumors of spinach, asparagus and strawberries, but a rumor is an unsatisfactory thing to take home to the cook. The cabbage is very cheap; both the new stock from Florida and the winter stock from New York State still on hand. Four to six cents a pound is a fair price. The high class grocers who are charging 10 can hardly explain it on any plea of high quality,

By diligencee we may be able to eat our way through the potato and onion supply and be free to enjoy the spring vegetables when they arrive, a week or two from now. There are acres of spinach about to move upon New York from Virginia and from Texas, and if you will wait two or three weeks you can help the Texas growers and your own purse, instead of paying 20 cents a quart for spinach to-day.

Speaking of Texas, she has raised not only an enormous crop of spinach, but an equal amount of onions. Both yields are in proportion to the size of the Lone Star State. It is whispered that she may secede from the Union or sue Uncle Sam for breach of promise if these two crops are not eaten. Keeping up with Texas is no small job, but we must encourage the farmer at any American Boys

The very fanciest of yellow onions are selling for two cents Germanic empires, where privation and a pound, wholesale. The humbler species, known as "reds," for one cent. By the same token, three to four cents is a fair price retail, and five cents should be the limit. Ten cents a pound retail for onions and cabbage approaches piracy. If every family in the country eats all the onions and potatoes it can there will still be enough to go around. We are improving in our potato consumption all the time, but need to speed up still more on eating potatoes and not eating bread.

Ten cents for sixteen ounces of bread, wrapped, is the permitted increased price under the new ruling, which does not prevent both the chain and high price stores in Brooklyn from charging 12. It is always a good idea for the housewife to make her own bread, and in this day of war substitutes the idea is better than ever.

We have purposely dropped the beef and the pork figures from the column. The meats to eat are lamb and veal. Even on Tuesdays you can eat these without any pangs of conscience When nothing is being required of us in meat abstinence, except to save beer and pork, we might well go lightly on these on other days of the week as well, to even up for the man who must have his beefsteak whether or no. The cheap cuts, the chucks an rounds, are still selling more freely than the ribs and loin, which fact is holding up the price of the erstwhile cheap cuts, the detriment of the man with the shorter purse. A NEW TYPE OF CONSUMERS' CLUB

There are all sorts of ways of forming a cooperative club to get the most profit with the least trouble. One has been started in connection with a food demonstration class, held at the Grace Church parish house, at 18 West 104th Street. About seventy to eighty women meet every week, with notebooks and pencils and patriotism, to study meat and wheat substitutes and the egg as a meat substitute, at reasonable prices, appealed to them. Sixty dozens of eggs and thirty pounds of butter fell short of the clubs requirements on the first order.

There is neither economy nor patriotism in feeding the family poor or insufficient food. Household thrift, health and food conservation are all served by careful buying of first class, highly nutritious foods at the lowest practicable prices, especially when the food isn't needed for ship

These classes were organized by Mrs. Dudley Saltonstall, chairman of the Food Bureau of the Patriotic Service League, in the 19th Congressional District sional District. Their vitality and steady growth indicate that they far nish a good pattern for any contemplated work of this kind.
